Join us for an unforgettable evening under the stars at the WCU Planetarium as we view what the Malvern sky would have looked like on the night of September 20, 1777, the night of the Battle of Paoli, and we will see how that compares to the night sky of today.

Dr. Karen Schwarz, Director of Planetarium, will be hosting both presentations, which will also include many other interesting bits of information about the constellations in the summer sky.

**Seats are limited to 130 people**

Any questions about this event, kindly contact Frank Ortner at 610-647-2577.
